Lilies III : a Mural Installation of Photographs

This photography installation is a mural and has twelve abstract photographs of lilies that I took in Vancouver in the summer of 2016 in the trails at False Creek. Each photograph measures 7.6” x 11” and has magnified variations of forms, bold contrasts of shadows and a very simple use of colour. These 12 photographs come in three different sets of colour: white, beige and yellow. This is a digital book sample.

This mural can be mounted on a wall in a series of 12. It's in the pdf form of an ebook since I would like to make this installation portable and easy to print.

I sincerely hope that you will like this new art that is emerging from my art practice.

Thank you always for looking.
